##CRISCc - Risk Response and Reporting Effectively

###Objectives:
At the end of this episode, I will be able to understand:

1. Risk Acceptance is a conscious decision by senior management
2. Recognizes the existence and impact of a risk
3. Sometimes referred to as “self-insurance”
4. Typically uses management reserves as a backup in case the risk event occurs
5. Acceptance of Risk:

- Risk that falls within the company’s risk appetite generally will be accepted
- Management might also choose acceptance if risk is within tolerance
- Risk that is accepted must be done so formally
- Informal risk acceptance is called risk ignorance

6. Accepting risk at the onset deals with inherent risk
7. Accepting risk after mitigation deals with residual risk
8. Risk acceptance is not a one-time process
9. Regular reviews need to take place to make sure risk remains within risk appetite or tolerances
